Ten Australian Artists to Watch in 2014

Alasdair McLuckie

In 2013, Melbourne artist Alasdair McLuckie not only won the Qantas SOYA Visual Art Award, he was chosen to participate in the epic "Melbourne Now" exhibition at the National Gallery of Victoria. He was also included in the Ten Cubed Collection's first top ten solo show in March and began his two-year residency at Gertrude Contemporary in Melbourne. Best known for his wonderful bead paintings, McLuckie engages with a range of different mediums to explore and reinvent themes of traditional folklore, tribalism, and ritual.

Alasdair McLuckie is represented by Murray White Room, Melbourne
