

Atsushi Kaga The Legend Portraits

Michael Jackson's Skull

This is MJ's skull.

He was (subtle grammatical shift) always Michael Jackson's skull, even before it was all he had left.

He has a few brothers (they are skulls too, but in a complicated way still have another existence).

He likes the colour gold and the look of merry-go-rounds.

He is still confused after his death (and by his death).

He is often crying and smoking a cigar.

Birds flying over his head often shit on him (which does not improve matters – they have no respect!).

He is luminous pink because of his desire to be peaceful.

Panda Heads are his friends. They cry together.